

The DP camps were home to a rebirth in Jewish cultural life as well as physical activities in the form of sports. Musical groups such as “The Happy Boys” shown here brought a variety of musical styles to the camps, such as swing and jazz.

USHMM Collection, Courtesy of Henry Baigelman.

A survivor of the Kovno ghetto, Abe Malnik wore these boxing gloves when he fought as a light-heavyweight in the Landsberg DP camp.

Abe Malnik, Delaware.

OCTOBER

2001